LA POLO

I have been there for you,
and for everyone,
who are as enthusiastic as you are.

It took me exactly 100 weeks, to reach this milestone.

For all these days, I have consistently come up to you with all that was needed for you to be known.

For all these months, I have studied, read and acknowledged my words for you, by you and from you.

For all these weeks, my predecessors have opened themselves to you.

They come week after week, for they know that news may come and news may go, but the building feeling of love and connection will stay there forever and ever.

It has been this love, that has made me witness this step of reaching my 100.

LA POLO Scored a Century

Since the beginning, LA POLO has been working invincibly. The feeling, at this point, is a mix of a lot of emotions—there's happiness, joy, achievement, success, and anxiety too! To look back, and take a detour on the novel step that we took 100 weeks ago, makes us wonder-struck about it all.

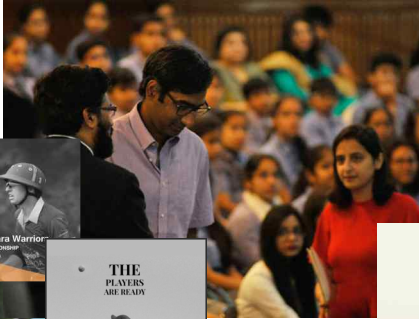

With each new Edition, our belief has taken deeper roots in the mission to enlarge our perspective on the centuries' old tradition of playing polo.

Today, the entire team celebrates the milestone 100th Week. This would not have been possible without all of you. My entire team and I take this occasion to Thank You all for the tremendous support and undying belief in us.

Knowing Gen Amar Singh Kanota

Gen Amar Singh Kanota

General Amar Singh Kanota Cup has been established to honor the memory of the late Major General Amar Singh Kanota. His military, sporting and literary contributions to Rajputana and modern India were profound and long-lasting. Amar Singh was a great supporter of Jaipur, Jodhpur and the idea of Rajputana. He was also a devoted family man, enthusiastic polo player and shikari, as well as an avid consumer and producer of the written word. Let us take a moment to review Amar Singh's contributions in military service and to defense organization; his contributions in sport, particularly to the modern game of polo in India; and his contributions in the world of literary memoir. Amar Singh lived from 1878 to 1942 and was the third Thakur of Kanota. His military career began under the mentorship of the celebrated Jodhpur regent, Sir Pratap Singh. In the Jodhpur Lancers, as rissaldar and commissioned officer, he perfected his polo game and served in the Allied Expeditionary force sent to China in 1900 to quell the Boxer Rebellion. Soon after, he entered with the first batch of the newly formed Imperial Cadet Corps where he quickly advanced to staff officer supporting the command headquarters at Mhow Cantonment. With the outbreak of World War I, Amar Singh was... (Keep Reading)

Park House 4 Goal Cup

Cowdray Park Polo Club, UK 🌍

The Best Playing Pony award, went to Barbara owned and played by Derreck Bratley.

Image: cowdraypolo.co.uk

The 2019 Park House Cup was entered by six teams and true to the spirit in which it was initiated, it was fitting that the winners were a youthful, enthusiastic and motivated side.

Angus Rowan-Hamilton made the first goal for Sea Breeze with no response from Maiz Dulce in the first chukka. Bratley for Maiz Dulce was able to equalize in the second chukka from a 30 yard safety shot and the teams went into halftime level on 1-1. The third chukka saw a lovely field goal from John Martin take Maiz Dulce into the lead on 2-1. However, in the final chukka, by giving away a spot penalty to Sea Breeze, ably seen through the posts by Alfie Hyde, Maiz Dulce lost the advantage. Another mistake by Maiz Dulce gave Hyde for Sea Breeze a 30 yard penalty shot at goal securing victory for Wilf Fine's team.

The Mecca of Polo-Argentina

From Pato to Polo

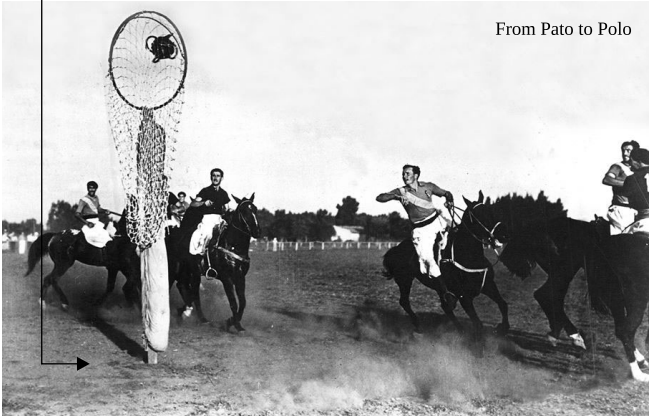

Image: With Words

The story really started with the Spanish conquistadors who were rummaging the corners of the world in search of extremely valuable commodities which would in return put Spain ahead of all the medieval European countries. Spices from the Indies and Gold and Silver from the new-found land or rather Columbus's mistakenly found Americas, this was the time when the origins of Argentina were being shaped. Silver referred as "Argentum" in the medieval world of alchemy was a metal that made Spain a great prospering nation for a very long time until the French and British took over that prominence. It was the presence of Silver, Argentum, which would result in the naming of modern-day Argentina. Argentina emerged from the throes of colonial conquest to become a Polo empire in herself. A portion of land which once suffered the blows of Colonialism as a colony of the spanish empire reversed the fate hundreds of years after becoming a Polo empire. Today's Argentina reminds us with its roots attached to 'silver' the Argentum, how post-colonial nations carved their own history after years of repression... (Keep Reading)

Argentina is universally recognized as polo's mecca, with several thousand active players. Over half of the sport's top pro players hail from Argentina, including Adolfo Cambiasso of La Dolфина and Facundo Pieres of Ellerstina . No Latin American country can be as good as Argentina in the sport of Polo, which was brought in by English immigrants at the beginning of the 19th century. Eventually, clubs were organised under the River Plate Polo Association in 1892, which gave birth to the Argentine Polo Association in 1922.

The Argentine Polo Association was constituted on September 14, 1922 in Buenos, Aires and is acts as a guiding entity of the game of Polo in Argentina. It organizes the most important polo tournament in the world, the Campeonato Argentino Abierto de Polo, which is played in the Campo Argentino de polo.
